Freat Victory for Rev. C. U. Wade at Blufton - Muncie Street-Railroad Riot That Lasted for Hours.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

BLUFFTON, Ind., Sept. 15.-Rev. C. U. Wade, of the M. E. Church of this city, having for a number of Sundays recently made open exposes of spiritualistic phenomena and from his pulpit demonstrated the same by performing "wonderful" mediumistic feats by means of trickery and sleight of hand, has greatly aroused the feeling Mr. Wade caused a challenge to be issued papers. The apostles of the spirit's creed, in order to prove their belief to their doubting brothers, offered to make a test case. The challenge was accepted by the minister, and the Spiritualists sent to Lafayette and secured H. R. Wardwell, whose rare mediumistic powers had astonished the credulous people all over the State,

In due time the medium, with his wife and three children, arrived and secured rooms in the Bliss House, the leading hotel of the city and, in the private parlors, arranged for the test. At 7:30 o'clock to-night the invited guests gathered in the room and formed two circles. As usual, the lights were extinguished, the music box wound up, the preliminaries gone through with and soon manifestations appeared. Faces and figures hideous and ugly enough to frighten the saints were seen.

Suddenly W. L. Royse, formerly a young Indianapolis lawyer, an investigator cabinet and seized the ghosts. The gas was lighted and one of the greatest frauds ever perpetrated stood exposed. The medium's wife and three children, robed in white, were discovered in the cabinet with the medium. The money paid by the visi-tors was immediately demanded and re-funded and Mayor Stevens, who was one of the visitors, out of sympathy for the woman and children, gave the medium thirty minutes to leave the city, which he did. This exposure is a fatal blow to the has numbered among its adherents some of the best people of the town. The expose is highly gratifying to all honest people.

ALL DAY RIOT IN MUNCIE. Men Run Down by Electric Motors and Cars Ditched.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 15 .- This city has never experienced such exciting scenes of riot as has been waged here nearly alf of to-day. It was a fight between the Warren-Scharf Asphalt Paving Company and the Muncie Electric Street-rallway Company. As a result of the riot a number of motors are lying in the gutter, several men are injured and officers of the streetcar company were arrested. The paving nut street, opposite the public square at ? Brown, of the paving company, went to work with a dozen teams. Manager W. J. Hilligoss, of the street-car company, ordered the men to desist. They refused, and he then sent a motor car at full speed into the first team, and they were knocked from the track. Another run was made at team No. 2, but the colored driver stood ready for the attack with a boulder in each hand, threatening Hilligoss's life. The fifty other hands approached with shovels, picks and clubs and the street-car company was driven back. A mob of citizens cheered the teamsters and hissed every move of the railway company. Finally rails and ties were pulled at this spot, but when the men were moved into the next square they found fifteen cars strung along the track, forming a blockade.

Every time a man would step on the track to cut a splice wire or pull spikes he would be run down by a motor car. After several hours the railway company turned the deadly current of electricity into the rail and notified the people that if they touched the car or rail it was at their peril. This caused the sceffe of war to be shifted to the crossing of Main and Walnut streets, and thousands of men and boys watched and cheered the destruction of the property. The same tactics of of the property. The same tactics of driving the pavers off with cars was be-gun here and kept up until the police ordered the cars off the sidewalk. Manager Hilligoss refused to obey orders, and on of the motormen came near running over Superintendent of Police Miller. This act caused the officers to pounce on the two motormen, Manager Hilligoss and Superintendent Petty, who were arrested amid cheering by the mob. They were hustled to Police Court and the two cars were then ditched, as had been others. At 2 o'clock the trouble was temporarily ended by the railway company getting a restraining order from the court. This was after two blocks of track had been de stroyed. This evening the asphalt com pany constructed a high fence across Walnut street at the Main-street crossing to prevent wagons from driving north. The was but a short spur of track there, but Hilligess manned a car and with a burst of speed went into it. The second time he did this he was knocked from the car into the muddy ditch and severely

Dr. Metcalf on the Grounds and Finds Things in a Bad Way.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 15. - Reports from Walkerton, this county, indicate that trouble over appearance of smallpox is going to be greater than at first anticipated. Dr. H. D. Denant, of Walkerton, has felt it necessary to again call Dr. Metcalf, of Indianapolis, who arrived there last evening, and will take necessary precautions. Dr. Metcalf fears the situation is very serious, as the whole town has been exposed through failure of Dr. Doud to properly diagnose his original case. It is said that Doud visited other patients even after his own person was broken out with the disease. One of the new cases is in the family of undertaker Vincent.

BLOODY RIOT AT ELWOOD.

Women and Men Fighting in Steven Clancey's Saloon.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ELWOOD, Ind., Sept. 15 .- At 4 o'clock this afternoon a bloody riot occurred at Steven Clancey's saloon, where a gang of toughs had congregated. Two women began fighting, and in attempting to separate their wives, Steven Clancey and William Richardson became engaged in deadly combat. Bystanders took it up, and in ten minutes the saloon was a perfect mob of combatants. Clancey grabbed his revolver and opened fire and Richardson was shot in the side, leg and arm four times, break-ing the bone of his arm. Several were badly wounded.

Indiana Christian Conference.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FARMLAND, Ind., Sept. 15 .- The fiftysixth annual session of the Eastern Indiana Christian Conference, which has been meeting for several days at Blountsville, Henry county, closed yesterday. The meeting was one of the largest and most interesting that has been held in this conference district for several years. Rev. G. V. D. R. Johnson, of Carlos City, was elected president; Rev. A. M. Addington, of Sherman, vice president. On Wednesday evening the work was devoted to the Christian ing the work was devoted to the Christian Endeavor societies, and a very interesting programme was rendered. Rev. J. R. Cortner, of Winchester, was chosen district organizer of Christian Endeavor societies. Forty-three ministers were present. The next session of the conference will be held in this city next year. Rev. J. R. Cortner, of Winchester, and Rev. F. Stovenour, of Portland, were chosen as delegates to the quadrennial convention of the Christian Church, which meets at Haverhill, Mass., in October.

Some time ago the Supreme Court decided that such money should be returned to the State the Atfould be returned to the State, the Attorney-general having appealed the case of the refusal of those holding the money to pay. Mr. Hibberd, notwithstanding the decision, was advised by his attorney to decline payment and fight the case, which will now be done.

Voorhees Defending Willis.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. VINCENNES, Ind., Sept. 15 .- The Willis murder trial is in progress in this city. More than fifty witnesses have been examined for the State, which is not yet through. When the divorced wife of Willis was placed on the stand she broke comdefendant also burst into tears and cried like a boy. It was the most pathetic scene ever witnessed in the Knox county court room. The array of attorneys for the deside of any suit ever tried in Vincennes. Notable among these are Senator Voornees and John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute.

New York Letter in Philadelphia Press. Whether ex-President Harrison will speak in this State during the campaign or not is a matter yet to be actermined. His relations with Mr. Morton, always cordial, would justify his saying something in aid of Mr. Morton's canvass and perhaps it of Mr. Morton's canvass, and perhaps in may not be regarded as too soon to sug gest that perhaps after all the ticket with which to appeal to those who prospered —to those who knew no lack of employment-to those who had good wages in the four years prior to 1892, and who have since suffered, as well as to the great business and commercial interests of the country, will be that one which being successful in 1888 showed the country that the Republiean party was a party of action, of con-structive energy, aiming at those things which would make for the prosperity of the whole country. The ex-President has been spending a good deal of time in this city for the past week or two, and yet with such singular discretion, such perfect tact, that no person, however maliciously dis-posed, can point the finger or reproachful suggestion at anything said or done, or suggestion at anything said or done, or can discover the slightest indication of any purpose on his part to regain in 1896 what was lost in 1892.

has seen and heard enough to convince him, as it has many other men, that the great objection to the Democratic party which has been raised in the minds of men who supported it with enthusiasm in 1892 is not that it quarreled over a tariff, or that it blundered over Hawaii, or that it imposed an income tax, or that it has done or left undone any specific thing, but is the whole record of absolute incompetence as a governing force. "The Democratic party has not got brains enough to govern this country." was a remark made on Labor day by one of the ablest Democratic Congressmen from New York State, and he added that the Democratic Congressmen from one section of the country were a

CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS SPOKE AT GREENFIELD YESTERDAY.

Col. Hardy and Frank Posey Doing Good Work in the South-Alonzo Burkhart's Populist Rant.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. GREENFIELD, Ind., Sept. 15 .-- Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indianapolis, opened the Republican campaign in Hancock county this afternoon by an able and eloquent speech at Masonic Hall. There was a large audience of the solid and substantial men of the county, who were pleased with his masterful presentation of State and national issues. Hancock county, with her numerous manufacturing industries, feels the weight of the Gorman tariff bill in a large reduction in wages. The popular candidate for joing Senator, Thomas K. Mull, of Rush county, was present at the meeting and made the acquaintance of the majority of the people.

Burkhart Is a Populist.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 15 .- Democrats in this vicinity are not taking off their coats to help elect Alonzo G. Burkhart, of Tipton county, the Populist whom a few Democrats at Frankfort indorsed for Congress. Recently, in a speech, Mr. Burk-

"I am here soliciting the patronage of everybody who wants to be represented by the common people, if you please. I am a business man and a farmer in Tipton county, where I was born and raised, and my people saw fit, contrary to my wishes, to nominate me for Congress. The Demo-cratic party, inasmuch as it had no candi-date, has taken me up, possibly as the next best thing it could do. It did this next best thing it could do. It did this without any trade on my part—or proposition to trade—the press of the country to the contrary, notwithstanding. I wish to state this fact, that when the press states that the Democratic party has fused with Burkhart, or has gone into a conspiracy to trade in this district, that it is a falsehood. I don't know who started the story points of Loans I am a Poontthe story, neither do I care. I am a Populist. The Democrats indorsed me, but they knew where I stood before they did it. I am a Populist, and not a Democrat, and if any of you hear a man in this district in this year of 1894, say that Burkhart has get the nomination, you may, in my behalf, give it the lie, and I will back you up world the people's party want it is loyalty and honesty of purpose. There may be more brilliant people and more influential men in the district that you might have selected, but a more loyal man I yield to no man. I understand that the plan of ndorsing me originated in my own county, and my Democratic friends there know me too well to even ask me to indorse any of their principles, or to make a deal of this Such representations may have been made unbeknown to me, but so far as I am personally concerned, I denounce it as

A Democrat Converted.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SHERIDAN, Ind., Sept. 15 .- The campaign for the Republicans was opened here last night by ex-Lieutenant Governor Thomas Hanna, of Indianapolis. The opera house was filled. He exposed the infamous gerrymander and showed the dishonesty of the Democratic party in its legislative and congressional apportionments. He paid his respects to the Democratic free-trade party and said that the reason the Democratic party was for free trade and would not legislate ir favor of the wage-earner was that Congress was controlled by 153 Senators and Representatives from the South, and that the wage-earner in the South was the black man and the poor white man, and that the Southern Democrat did not care whether they got a living or not. He said that the same cause that controlled the tariff legislation inspired the insults and oppression that has been meted out to the veterans of the war. He quoted extracts from Southern school-books, newspapers and speeches, which said the Union soldiers are nothing but a set of pension beggars, and that only this week the Memphis Commercial-Appeal said, in speaking of the oncempent at Elitabeth 1981. of the encampment at Pittsburg: "Men who plead for pap; charge of the pension brigade; Pittsburg's heights stormed by an army of pie-seekers." A large number of old soldiers occupied the front seats in the audience and the speaker was frequently applauded. At the close of the meeting Captain Dawson, a prominent hardware dealer of this place, who was a soldier in the Mexican and late war and a life-long Democrat, acknowledged his conversion to the Republican party, and said hereafter he would stand by the Republican party and was for Benjamin Harrison, the sol-diers' friend, for President in 1896.

Two Democrats Flopped.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ORLEANS, Ind., Sept. 15 .- The campaign was opened in this county last night for the Republicans by a rousing speech by Hon, L. C. Wright at the Magner schoolhouse that is calculated to make Republican votes. An immense turnout of Republicans from all sections of the county were present. At this meeting two lifelong Democrats made speeches and an-nounced their intention of hereafter affiliating with the Republican party. One of them, M. M. Johnson, is a veteran of two wars, the Mexican and late wars, through other, Capt. R. T. Littell, is a hero of the late war and has been a life-long Democrat. They both say they are done with the Democratic party.

WORTHINGTON, Ind., Sept. 15 .- The campaign was auspiciously opened here today by Indiana's silver-tongued orator. Hon. B. F. Posey, of Evansville, and Col. A. M. Hardy, the next Congressman from this district. The opera house was jammed and as many more were unable to gain admission. The crowd was estimated at 1,500. Posey's speech was in his happiest vein, and was an unanswerable argun in favor of Republicanism. Major Hardy's speech was delivered in his best style and will add several votes to the cause. Put down Greene county as 500 for Hardy and the rest of the Republican ticket. The euthusiasm among Republicans here is unprecedented so early in the campaign.

know that a clew has been obtained to account for its frequent occurrence, and the supposed remedy is easy of application. In the French public schools 24.2 per cent. of the scholars are shortsighted; in the German, 35 per cent.; in the English, only 20 per cent. From investigations by M. Martin into the annals of the French schools it appears that the percentage is the highest in the rhetoric and philosophy classes. The hygienic condition of the school does not seem to affect the percentage, and M. Martin thinky that want of physical exercise is the cause of the trouble. By modifying the work of the classes the proportion of shortsighted scholars at the College of Glessen has fallen from 26.6 to 17 per cent, in five years. M. Martin rec-ommends reasonable periods of physical ex-ercise between the hours for study. Where these periods of recreation have been allowed, while shortsightedness has decreased, there has been no diminution of general proficiency on the part of the schol-

THE CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

Senator Davis Does Not Think Should Be the Tariff.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.-Senator C. K. Davis, in an interview to-day, said: "The American people cannot help producing. We have 70,000,000 of people, and for sixteen months 70,000,000 million of people have been economizing. But matters have reached a point where people must buy. This will have a tendency to improve business conditions and hasten prosperity. I think that the business of the country will gardually adjust itself to the provisions of the new tariff. And I think, also, what the business men of this country really need is peace on the tariff question. The issue of the next campaign is the conspicuous fail-ure of the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the government in diplomacy, in finance—in everyhing. The Democratic party will be on the defensive throughout the campaign, endeavoring to justify its acts. The Republican party has its record and will stand upon that." Tom L. Johnson Renominated. CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 15 .- Congressman Tom L. Johnson was renominated for Congress to-day by the Twenty-first district (Cleveland) Democratic convention. Mr. Johnson's nomination was made by acclamation. In his speech of acceptance he said among other things: "While there are some who still seek to judge the present by the past, while there are some editors and some newspapers who still cling to past traditions and think they can stem the tide and bring the party into line with their opinions, I for one hope the line will be distinctly drawn—those in favor of pro-tection on one side and those opposed to

THE MONTHLY MAGAZINES. some of Their Defects Kindly Pointed Out by a Newspaper.

New York Commercial Advertiser.

The defects in the monthly magazine are almost vital and some of them are of long standing. It was born of the Quarterly Review, which is a most defective parent. insincere even in name. Ostensibly, the Review was instituted to review the literature of the day. In fact, the contributor writes an essay, apropos of nothing. then looks about for some book of which he can pretend the essay is a review. Often the book whose title is placed at the head of the essay is not even mentioned in the body of the article. With such parentage the monthly maga-zine had a poor start in life. At last it has abandoned literature absolutely, although the writers of its dialect stories speak with an air about their literary labors. If the magazine has any distinct aim beyond getting as many advertisements as possible, it is to print pictures especially the portraits of play-acting and stage-singing people, the letter text being much like the matter of the Sunday news paper. It seeks to please, which is the particular thing it condemns in the news-The immediate reform we have in view for the magazine is one that will be grateful to the immense number of persons whose timely contributions have been re jected because "we have now on hand accepted articles for two years in advance. The fact that hardly any matter printed in the magazines is less than two years old, or that the matter accepted to-day is not likely to appear before the lapse of two years, is evidence of a fatal defect in magazine editing. Magazines do not determine the subject matter of public in terest at any time. That is done by events and by the newspapers. In this prodig-iously active age and country the changes in public interest and in public taste are so rapid that it is impossible to foresee today what will be of lively interest two years away. For example, two years ago there was a rage for dialect stories. Magazine editors accepted and paid for them in tons, and continued to serve them on read ers whose taste for such stories was sa-tiated long, long ago. Having bought them, the editors are forced to print them to the bitter end, to the infinite weariness of the public and to the rejection of the fresh and delightful matter for which the public taste is ripe. It cannot be said of anything that it will do at all two years ahead. A great event, a war, a social disturbance of any kind, affects the needs of the time in every de-partment of human interest. We are read-ing magazines that bear the date of Sep-tember, 1894, but which, in fact, were virtually made up some time in the year 185. The contributors chose their subjects under conditions created by events and by newspaper comments of some two years ago, while the public demand, even as to fiction and adventures and pictures, is created by the events and newspaper comments of to-

Police Reproved for Clubbing People Who Wanted to See Their Emperor-A Cantata by His Majesty.

(Copyright, 1894, by the Associated Press.) BERLIN, Sept. 15 .- The latest public utterance of Emperor William is his proclamation, issued from Schlobitten, at the conclusion of the army maneuvers. The proclamation was addressed to the Presidents of the provinces of East and West Prussia, and in it the Emperor cordially thanked the people of those portions of the empire, in the name of himself and the Empress, for the magnificent reception which was accorded to their Majesties The Emperor also expressed gratitude for the attention and comfort bestowed upon the troops who were quartered upon the inhabitants during the maneuvers, adding: "I am delighted to perceive that the memory of my grandfather is kept alive in the province of Konigsburg." On the whole the health of the army was good, although there were reports of choleraic cases among the cavalry engaged in the maneuvers. But investigation of the reports shows that they were unfounded.

Emperor William expressed disapproval made Suits. of the system of keeping the public at a great distance during the military evolutions. Much complaint has been heard from the people on this subject recently, and during Emperor William's criticism of the day's exercises at Elbing the police began roughly forcing back the crowds which attempted to approach the spot where the Emperor was surrounded by the commanding officers. As soon as he noticed the action of the police his Majesty interfered and ordered the police officials to allow the crowds to approach, saying: "The people want to see their Emperor, and the Emperor wants to see his people."

This is intended to meet the complaints of the German sugar manufacturers who are dissatisfied with the new United States

The impression prevails that the official cholera reports are unreliable. Thus, for the week ending Sept. 10, the official repont gives thirty new cases of cholera and fifteen deaths from that disease for the whole of the German empire, while a local Breslau paper reports twenty-three cases of cholera in one day at Laurahutte and ten other cases in the neighborhood of that place, of which shole number seventeen cases were fatal. The frontier of the Marion district, West Prussia, has been closed against traffic from Russia, except at Ottlotschin for railway passengers and at Schilino for water traffic. Russian dealers are prohibited from visiting the weekly market at Posen.

The Vossische Zeitung says that Emperor
William has written the words and music to a cantata in the style of the old minnesingers, or minstrels, extolling the personal and intellectual qualities of Queen Margaret of Italy, to whom this composition was dedicated. The Emperor is also said to have sent a copy of his cantata to the Queen of Italy. Between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday even-ing Emperor William ordered the torpedo flotilla engaged in the naval maneuvers to attack the war vessels which were anchored off Sassnitz. The attack was very successful. The Emperor witnessed the naval operations to-day from on board the ronclad Woerth. King Alexander of Servia is at present diligently studying German, as he intends to pay a personal visit to Emperor William during his forthcoming trip to Berlin. The young monarch will arrive in Berlin or Oct. 20, and will stay here a month or so. Another American, H. N. Nelson, of Boston, has scored a rank failure here. He pretended to be the inventor and owner of a flying machine made on an entirely new principle, and to be able to fly some distance with it. On making the attempt to carry out his promises, before a gathering in a suburb of Berlin, he fell into the river, but was saved. Memorial coins of the value of thre marks, called "reconciliation thalers." have been coined in the Berlin mint at the order of the Emperor to commemorate the reconciliation between His Majesty and the ex-Chancellor. Five thousand all have been coined, but not for publi use. One side shows the Emperor in a general's uniform, while the reverse discovers Bismarck in cuirassier garb. On the rim of the coin appears, "Ein Gedacht Misthaler. Freidolin Von Holbein, the last living descendent of the famous painter, has been admitted as an inmate into the poorhouse at Aussig. Pohemia; old, decrepit, and without means of support. He had earned a scant living as a photographer's assistant for many years at Vienna, Buda Pesth and elsewhere. During last year the German army counted 11,000 recruits more in its ranks than the law of Aug. 3, 1893, regarding the new peace footing, called for. This excess was mainly due to the greater number of one-year volunteers. It is well known what an interest the German Empress takes in the erection of new churches and the renovation of old ones. Thus far, within the six years of the present reign, eight new temples of Protestant worship have been built in Berlin alone, either at her instance or at least in coasequence of the encouragement and impulse urnished by her. The latest of the churches built under her patronage, the new Church of Reconciliation, was dedicated a few days ago. The magnificent Emperor William Memorial Church, while not yet finished so far as its tall steeple is concerned, is almost entirely furnished in its interior. About 13,000,000 marks have thus far been expended on it, all the result of voluntary contributions and free gifts from the whole German nation, even Jewish inanciers contributing liberally. The Empress has returned to the new pal ace from Potsdam from the northwest. President Patton, of Princeton College, sailed for New York on Thursday last on poard the Anchor line steamship Rome.

NICE FOR THE CAPTAIN. That Dignitary Now Occupies a Place of Security on His Ship.

In the days of wooden ships the post of the captain of a man-of-war was on the quarter-deck, where, exposed to the shots of the enemy, he directed the movements of the ship and controlled the fire of the hattery. The post of danger is a post noror, but many a brave captain has los his life by needlessly exposing himself to shot and shell. The dangerous position of the leading spirit of the ship has in the past been a weak point in the system o naval warfare. In the ships of the present day a place is set apart which the commanding officer is to occupy during action. This is called the "conning tower." The conning tower is a cylindrical structure made of steel about three or four inches thick, with a dome-like top. It has a narrow entrance in the rear, protected by a curved flanking piece of the same thickness. Small sight-hotes of the same thickness. Small signt-holes are pierced through the steel, and inside there is just room enough for three persons—the captain, the helmsman and another man to work the signals to the different parts of the ship. The conning tower is situated in the forward part of the ship, and from the inside the captain has ing that the engines have been started ahead, reversed or stopped, as the case may be. But to make assurance doubly sure, an electric connection with each engine shaft brings back a reply from the machinery itself. Speaking tubes, tele-phones and electric bells lead to the engine room, the magazines and all the important parts of the ship, and to all the guns of the battery. An arrangement for concen-trating the fire of the guns on any one point is very striking. From his elevated ost in the conning tower the captain has a better view than can be had from the guns themselves, where the smoke often obscures the object to be aimed at. By means of the range finder—an apparatus recently devised, which does its work by means of electrically controlled arms or inters-the exact distance of the enemy's ship is found in an instant. The captain orders the guns to be trained at a certain angle—this is done by means of narks on the deck training circles-then

With his finger on the electric button that closes the contact with the gun-firing apparatus, and his eyes carefully giancing along the line of the sight he waits till the target appears over the little points. Then, with a crash that shakes the ship from stem to stern, the whole broadside of guns pour out their deadly shell.

If the comning tower should be destroyed the control of the ship is not lost, for, far down below the water line, protected from injury by a curved steel deck, is a duplicate of the steering apparatus, always
